The Alaska SeaLife Center is a non-profit research facility located on the shores of Resurrection Bay in Seward, Alaska. It is Alaska's premier destination for experiencing marine wildlife, and is the only permanent marine mammal rehabilitation facility in the state. This world-class center was funded in part by the Exxon Valdez settlement and is dedicated to generating and sharing scientific knowledge to promote understanding and stewardship of Alaska's marine ecosystems.

On your self-guided tour you can view Steller sea lions, puffins, harbor seals, giant Pacific octopus and numerous other species from Alaska's deep.

Notes:

The price of this tour is the same price as the walk-up rate at the Sealife Center. This tour is unguided and is available only to guests whose cruise does not begin or end in Seward. Children under 3 enter free.

Experience one of Alaska's few walk-in glaciers -- Exit Glacier.

At the end of the road, follow a walking trail for 2½ miles through an alder forest, meeting the glacier's terminus (face) half way through your hike. The first half of the path is paved; the rest is gravel. Exit Glacier is three miles long and descends some 2,500 feet from the Harding Icefield.

A naturalist guide will tell you all about the effects Exit and other glaciers have had on this area.

End your tour with a transfer to Anchorage Airport or to downtown Anchorage.

Notes:

Dress in layers and bring a raincoat. This tour is available only to guests on northbound sailings, Vancouver to Seward, whose cruise ends in Seward and with flights departing Anchorage at 5pm or later, or to guests who are overnighing in Anchorage. If you have already purchased an airport transfer or a transfer to Anchorage with your cruise booking, it will be refunded on board the ship, as this excursion automatically includes a transfer. Please call Reservations at 1-877-932-4259 or 206-286-3900 to have it removed. Any penalties for removing the transfer within 120 days will be waived.

Even by Alaskan standards, Kenai Fjords National Park is truly amazing. A place where natural wonders literally come together with breathtaking results, the park showcases sensational seascapes, tidewater glaciers and a host of wildlife.

Perhaps the best way to experience this park is on a day boat with the original tour operator of Kenai Fjords National Park.

Commonly seen animals are humpback whales, sea lions, sea otters, harbor seals, orcas and hundreds of different seabirds. See a tidewater glacier and stop at Fox Island for a grilled Alaska salmon and prime rib buffet.

A Kenai Fjords National Park ranger offers a presentation at Fox Island.
